WM. HENRY BAGLEY

To render service was the lot of our early pioneers. To them, this was not a hardship but a distinct privilege. Of Wm. Henry Bagley it is said, "He rendered service to the pioneers of Wasatch County by standing guard to keep Indians away from people and their cattle.

Wm. H. Bagley married Hannah Burner when she was sixteen years old. Hannah Bagley rendered service by herding sheep for a family named Maefield. Hannah and William moved to Charleston where they made their first home under a big tree. Here they lived until Indians drove them away. They went to Midway for a short time. Charleston seemed home to them and soon they returned.

Hannah took wool on shares to spin and make into clothing for her husband and children.

If there was anyone sick or in distress in the town, Hannah was there to render service by helping and comforting. From the time she came to Utah in 1853 until her life ceased she gave of her time and talents freely and without restraint.

WILLIAM HENRY BAGLEY

William Bagley married Hannah Burnes when she was 16 years old. She had come to Utah in 1853. They first lived in Charleston, then moved to the Fort String in Midway, returning to Charleston again when the Indian scare subsided.

Mr. Bagley was a guard at the Fort. He helped to pioneer Provo valley. Hannah helped by herding sheep. She took wool on shares to spin and make into clothing for her husband and children.

Both she and her husband rendered real service to the early pioneers of Wasatch giving help and comfort in sickness and distress. They gave of their time and talents without restraint.

and other organizations of the ward to help build up the Church as a benefit to its members.

Missionary service to the world in spreading the good news of the Gospel has been important to members of the Charleston Ward. Even though the ward is small, 72 missionaries have been called to the labor from the ward and have served in nearly every mission field in the world.

Education has been prized by Charleston residents, and the establishment of schools was given much attention by early settlers.

When the community was re-settled after the Black Hawk Indian disturbances in 1867, William Chatwin taught school in a log home. William Wright also taught school for several winters in George Brown's home, as well as the homes of William Bagley and the McAfee's.

School sessions were held only three months during the winter, and the tuition was $1 a month or $3 for the season, payable by the parents in eggs, butter, vegetables, hay or anything they could spare. Cash payments were rare.

John Brown, a poor man, but possessing a good education, taught school in Charleston beginning about 1872. By 1873 the community was ready to build a school house and the labor began. George Smith and Nymphas C. Murdock are reported to have gone to Salt Lake City to purchase doors and windows for the school. In the one-room frame structure, the desks were long boards hung on hinges, so they could be let down or raised up and allow the room to be used for socials or other purposes. The girls sat around the outside of the room. In the center was a long bench and table at which the boys sat. How Beautiful On Mts.
